

IMPACT REPORT

Arts for All has been a wonderful, creative, and confidence-building experience for my daughters, Eliza and Zoey. They've been part of the program since its beginning, and it's given them space to explore new pursuits and deepen their love of the arts.

They've learned ukulele, hand chimes, performed skits, and participated in every rotation – with art being a consistent favorite. These experiences have pushed them out of their comfort zone and helped them discover new talents.

I'm always impressed by how much they grow in just 8 weeks. The end-of-rotation performances are a highlight – a chance for families to witness their progress and for the kids to shine. From original theatre skits to playing a new instrument to incredible art work in just weeks, it's truly amazing. The teachers do a phenomenal job guiding creativity and building skills.

The girls have both been quick to say they have made friends from other schools (snack & social time helps with that!), and I appreciate that Arts for All gives them a way to connect with a new friend community outside of our neighborhood school.

ARTS FOR ALL IN GRACIE'S LIFE

Arts for All has been a powerful influence in Gracie's life, especially as she navigates the challenges of having family far away, adjusting to a new culture, and learning to embrace her identity within a diverse community. Through this program, she has not only received affirmation and encouragement but has also developed artistic skills that are helping her express herself in meaningful ways.

Now, in 4th grade, she is discovering that art is more than a hobby—it's a path to make a difference in the lives of others. Arts for All, alongside therapy, has offered her a safe and supportive space to grow emotionally and creatively. The program has given her a sense of belonging and purpose.

Perhaps most importantly, it has helped her build connections with other children across different schools and grades—relationships she might not have formed otherwise. In a time when she could have felt isolated, she instead found a creative community that sees her, values her, and grows with her.

Thank you for this wonderful opportunity! - Marién, Gracie's mom
